Registration

All students are required to register at the beginning of each of the two semesters of the academic year. On registering, the student is expected to present on a blank supplied for the purpose a statement of the courses for which he desires to register, approved by the professor in charge of the major subject.

Registration should be completed before class work starts on September 26, 1934.

The Officers of Instruction and description of Courses will be found in the general catalog.

For other information inquire at the Registrar's Office, 1901 F St. N. W., Washington, D. C.

Admission to the School of Political Sciences

Admission to the Junior Class in the School of Political Sciences is based upon the information furnished in the application blank. The scholastic requirement is the completion of a four-year course in an accredited high school, or its equivalent, and the completion of the Freshman and Sophomore years in an accredited college, or its equivalent. The minimum number of entrance requirements is fifteen units and the minimum number of semester hours is sixty.

Candidates for admission to the School of Political Sciences from an institution of college rank may receive credit without examination for work completed at such an institution, subject to the following requirements:

1. He must present a catalog of the institution from which he comes, with pages marked that describe courses for which he asks credit and with such pages indicated on the cover. He must present also an official certificate showing (a) his entrance credits at that institution, (b) his complete college record, including grade of scholarship in each subject taken, and (c) honorable dismissal.

2. He must have completed creditably the work of at least two years in an institution of college rank. As a rule, no credit is given for work of grade D when it is the lowest passing mark.

3. Credit is regarded as provisional at the time of the applicant's admission and will not be considered as final, nor will the applicant be given final enrollment until he has satisfactorily completed at least one semester's work in this school.

4. The applicant must register for courses required for the degree which he seeks.

5. A student admitted to advanced standing in the School of Political Sciences must complete at least thirty credits in residence in this University of which twenty-four hours must be completed in the School of Political Sciences, and he must maintain an average of C grade in all work taken in this school.

6. No advanced credit will be given for work done in a secondary school.

Periods and Credits

The normal length of the lecture or discussion period is seventy-five minutes, one and a half times as long as the usual academic period. Accordingly, each two-period course completed satisfactorily yields three academic credits (i.e., three academic semester hours).

Fees

A matriculation fee of five dollars is payable upon admission to the Senior College of the School of Political Sciences. This fee is paid only once.

Tuition each semester.....	$100.00
Library fee each semester.....	2.00

For late registration (after the tenth day of the semester) or for a special or extra examination $5.00 each.

All candidates receiving a degree from the University will pay at least one full year's tuition.

Students registered in the School of Political Sciences for less than twelve credit hours will pay seven dollars and fifty cents for each semester credit. In case extra credit is given in any course, because of supplementary work, there will be a corresponding increase of tuition fee.

Not to exceed one-half of the tuition fees paid may be refunded in case of withdrawal because of sickness or other causes beyond the student's control, in the event of notice given the office within 30 days after the beginning of the semester.

A Laboratory fee of $2.00 a semester will be charged for courses in either Laboratory Psychology or Laboratory Statistics.

A diploma fee of ten dollars is payable before graduation.

Requirements for Graduation from the School of Political Sciences

The degree of Bachelor of Arts or the degree of Bachelor of Science is conferred at the annual commencement upon all students who have completed satisfactorily the specified requirements for graduation as to hours, courses, majors, distribution of work, fields of concentration, and grades. Students themselves are responsible for seeing that these requirements are met in full. These requirements are as follows:

Amount of Work

The minimum requirement for graduation is the completion of 120 semester hours. An hour signifies one period of fifty minutes a week or its equivalent throughout one college semester. Where a recitation period is seventy-five minutes long throughout one college semester, the credit is one and one-half hours and the time necessary to adequately prepare for such recitation or lecture is estimated at an average of three hours for each class recitation.

In the department chosen, the student must complete from 24 to 30 hours of work approved by the head of the department, who becomes the student's adviser. Twelve additional hours, to be approved by the adviser, must be completed in subjects closely related to the major subject. These additional hours may be included in the list of prescribed studies. By this plan, each student is afforded the opportunity to choose a considerable part of his course of study in a field of concentration adapted to his special interests and abilities.

Prescribed Studies

History of the University

The desire to establish in Washington an institution of higher learning devoted to the principles of Protestant Christianity was expressed soon after the Civil War; but not until twenty-five years later was the desire carried out. The leader of the movement to establish a university in Washington was Bishop John Fletcher Hurst, of the Methodist Episcopal Church.

He purchased the site, now occupied by the College of Liberal Arts, in 1890. In 1893 a charter for The American University was granted by Congress, and a Board of Trustees was organized. Then Bishop Hurst began the courageous and arduous task of raising funds for buildings. The first building (now the Hurst Hall of History) was completed in 1898.

The first unit of the University to be established was the Graduate School. This was formally opened by President Wilson on May 27, 1914, and some work was offered during the following year. In 1920 the University purchased property on F Street between Nineteenth and Twentieth Streets and offered instruction in two schools—the Graduate School of Arts and Sciences and the Graduate School of Diplomacy and Jurisprudence. The name of the latter was changed in 1924 to the Graduate School of the Political Sciences.

The establishment of the College of Liberal Arts was approved by the Trustees in June, 1924, and the College was opened on September 23, 1925. In January, 1926, the Trustees adopted a plan of reorganization, consolidating all of the graduate work in the one Graduate School and creating a senior college to be known as the School of the Political Sciences with junior and senior courses leading to the bachelor degrees. The School of Political Sciences was conceived as an adjunct of the Graduate School and to succeed the Graduate School of Diplomacy and Jurisprudence.
